

The Eco Technology Show, the London and South East event for trade, building owners, occupiers, and the general public covering sustainable build, energy, transport and technology, returns this June with an even bigger and better event for 2013! This year's venue is the newly-refurbished Brighton Centre, right on the seafront.

A must attend show for anyone interested in how energy efficiency and saving money will drive their business forward, The Eco Technology Show 2013 will unveil the latest in eco technology innovations from across Europe.

The two day show will feature over 100 exhibitors. With three clearly laid-out exploration zones, it will be easy to plan your visit and navigate your way round the Show to find out about new technologies and ideas that are ready for you to take advantage of now. These include: Eco Build, Design, Renewable Energy, Office, and Home, Transport, Education, Technology and Innovation zones.

Nicola Gunstone, commercial director at The Eco Technology Show comments: "The Eco Technology Show focusses on what is available here and now and offers real business opportunities to tradespeople.

"We know your time is valuable and will make sure the Show is easy to navigate."

Entry is £5 after which workshops and seminars are free to attend. Readers of your magazine who register in advance online can take advantage of our special free ticket offer. Simply visit www.ecotechnologyshow.co.uk and follow the registration links for people with special
